

THINGS TO DO IN N.Y.C. THIS SUMMER

A Day at Queens Farm (and the Restaurants You Should Dig Into Afterward)

Forty-seven acres of working farmland, and in New York City, no less.
Lily Landes for The New York Times

By Margot Boyer-Dry and Max Falkowitz

June 5, 2019

You're reading Summer in the City, our limited-edition newsletter that rounds up the best things to do in New York City during the hottest season of the year. Sign up here to get future editions delivered to your inbox.

Happening This Week (and Beyond)

Friday: The Climate's a Drag party unites drag and environmental advocacy on Governors Island.